Experience-Driven Results

With 30+ years of broad industry experience, there is little we haven't tackled before. Curia is large enough to help you take on complex drug development and manufacturing challenges, yet small enough to maintain a personalized approach. Such flexibility and scalability makes us the perfect dedicated ally for biopharma companies of all sizes.

Worldwide Resources

Curia operates an integrated network of 20 facilities and 3,200 professionals across India, Europe and North America, delivering global reach and local expertise. We offer global resources, deep local regulatory knowledge, intellectual property proficiency and unmatched scientific expertise where you need it.

Unwavering commitment

We navigate the complexities of early drug discovery and development through to manufacturing. Our highly-trained team of professionals are perceptive problem-solvers—driven, agile and dedicated to delivering results with integrity and predictable speed to market—while maintaining the highest standards of quality and excellence.

Collaboration at the core

Our customers' goals are our goals. From developing tailored and time-saving solutions to maintaining open communications between teams, we work seamlessly with you to meet the unique needs of your business—while you retain full oversight and control of your project. We are fast, flexible and dedicated to bringing new therapies to patients.
