WE HELP BUSINESSES INNOVATE AND GROW

Prime Health Ltd. is a rapidly growing manufacturer and supplier of a wide range of natural health products and nutritional supplements. Since its founding in 1998, our company has earned the trust of an extensive network of loyal clients and partners. They share our uncompromising commitment to customer service and product quality control.

We are proud to offer our customers advanced research, development, and manufacturing services. These are backed by our state-of-the-art facilities and a highly experienced team of scientists and specialists.

Prime Health is known for its integrity, professionalism, and client-oriented work ethic. We take pride in meeting our customers' health needs across Canada and around the globe.

Prime Health specializes in all aspects of these specific manufacturing processes. We also maintain cost-effective production lines for Tablets, Capsules, Softgels, Liquids, Gummies, and Powders.

Prime Health offers packaging options including bottles, blister packs, pouches, sachets, jars, and stick packs, all as per our clients' specific packaging and labeling requirements.

Our experienced team of pharmacists and production managers is continually working to find innovative and efficient ways to improve our clients' well-being and to ensure they receive the products they truly need.

CONTRACT MANUFACTURING

Our experts transform your concepts and ideas into valuable, high-quality finished products. Whether your product is in the form of powders, capsules, or coated/uncoated tablets, our professional team of nutritional, herbal, and pharmaceutical specialists is ready to assist you. We look forward to collaborating with you to research and formulate cost-effective solutions and the best possible products that meet your specific requirements.

TABLETS

Prime Health offers a wide variety of machine tooling and coating supplies, enabling us to produce tablets that meet your exact size, hardness, disintegration, and color specifications.

We offer a diverse range of tablets, including Sublingual, Delayed Release, Time Release, Multi-layered, Chewable, and Coated & Uncoated varieties. We can produce these in various shapes and sizes to meet your specific product requirements.

ENCAPSULATION

We offer encapsulation services featuring a smart dosing system for nutritional supplement products. We can produce acid-resistant, vegan, and gelatin capsule types, handling a variety of volumes from prototype to low- and high-volume production runs.

SOFTGELS

Softgel technologies are becoming an increasingly popular dosage form in both the over-the-counter and prescription markets. From enhanced stability to easier swallowability, softgel formulations offer numerous benefits.

Prime Health offers contract manufacturing for producing an extensive range of softgels, complete with packaging and labeling, utilizing the latest technologies.

POWDER

Prime Health is recognized for its expertise in the development and production of supplement powders. Our specialists meticulously blend ingredients to create a harmonious and uniform product.

Prime Health offers contract manufacturing for producing high-quality powder supplements, including packaging and labeling. Our processes adhere to a structured set of quality assurance and control procedures, as per Health Canada guidelines.

CONTRACT MANUFACTURING

LIQUIDS

Developing liquid supplements presents a unique challenge in maintaining optimal suspension and stability. Our skilled research and development team can help you find the ideal base, preservative, pH level, and flavor that will effectively work with your active ingredients.

Prime Health offers contract manufacturing for producing high-quality liquid formulas, including packaging and labeling. We also conduct testing to determine the appropriate shelf life of the active ingredients.

GUMMIES

Gummy formulas are a highly popular delivery method for nutritional supplements, favored by children and adults alike.

Kids love chewy gummy products for their fun shapes and great taste. This highlights that flavor is an essential factor for consumers of all ages, which is why we make it a top priority in our gummy products.

MIXING AND BLENDING

A crucial step in the manufacturing process of supplements is combining multiple ingredients to create a harmonious blend.

Once perfectly mixed, the dry ingredients can be packaged as a powder or further processed into capsules or tablets.

Supplement ingredients are carefully blended in a temperature- and humidity-monitored area to ensure a uniform blend and consistent quality.

BULK AND FINISHED PRODUCTS

Our advanced, state-of-the-art pharmaceutical manufacturing and packaging equipment ensures fast, top-quality production for both bulk and finished products.

Our latest equipment is high-speed to ensure maximum output, automatic for minimized production time, and highly efficient to satisfy our customers' timelines.

PACKAGING AND LABELLING

Prime Health provides a variety of unique packaging options in numerous sizes, shapes, colors, and formats. We offer a wide range of solutions that enable your product to stand out on retail shelves and provide your customers with suitable purchasing options.

BOTTLE PACKAGING

Our complete automated bottle packaging line is capable of filling tablets, capsules, softgels, gummies, powders, and liquids.

Depending on the dosage, various methods and techniques are used to fill the product. We manage production runs from low to high volume and can efficiently handle custom or specialty projects.

BLISTER PACKAGING

A blister package protects your product, enclosing it between a thermoformed plastic part and a printed paperboard backing (also known as a blister card).

There are multiple methods to seal the formed plastic to the printed card. We provide PVC-ALU and ALU-ALU options.

STICK POUCHES AND SACHETS

We offer stick pack pouches and sachets as a versatile packaging option for supplements, allowing you to provide your customers with innovative and convenient on-the-go nutrition. This format is perfect for powders, granules, and capsules/tablets in various sizes.

POWDER JAR FILLING

Powder filling processes can be versatile and unique, depending on the substance's properties.

We handle the filling of fine powders, coarse granules, and dry products, all performed according to GMP guidelines. We can fill powders into all types of containers, including small jars, large jars, stand-up pouches, and more.

RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

Prime Health is committed to continuous research and development. We actively engage with new technologies, medical breakthroughs, and stability testing, enabling us to discover and integrate advanced solutions into our daily operations. This ensures we always utilize the best methods to deliver quality products.

SAMPLE TRIALS

Sample trials allow our customers to review the finished product before committing to large-scale production runs. During this process, we scale up the laboratory formulation to quantities suitable for processing. We also use selected packaging and labels to confirm compatibility with the product and the manufacturing process.

CUSTOM FORMULATION

Whether you're designing a formula with specific ingredients, seeking particular product characteristics, or simply wish to market one of our base products, our goal is to build quality, value, and efficiency into your products.

NEW PRODUCT DESIGN

New product development begins with a laboratory-produced sample and culminates in a sample test run that demonstrates a commercially viable outcome.
