

Regional Quality Control Laboratory

Barbados is seeking to establish a regional pharmaceutical quality control laboratory to close a critical gap in the Caribbean's pharmaceutical ecosystem. Today, manufacturers must send products overseas for essential testing—one Barbados manufacturer alone spends over US$1 million annually on external testing. The proposed facility would build regional capacity for microbial, stability, chemical and analytical testing, supporting manufacturers, strengthening regulatory assurance and accelerating product release closer to market.

Barbados is seeking laboratory operators, investors and technical partners interested in building and operating this critical piece of regional pharmaceutical infrastructure. Test in the Caribbean. Certify with confidence. Build a stronger regional pharmaceutical industry.

If you build, equip or run laboratories, we should talk.
