IMMUNITY

STRENGTHEN YOUR IMMUNE SYSTEM

The human body fends off millions of attackers at all times of day and generally this goes unnoticed. To do this, your body needs a strong and functioning immune system.

Factors such as cold, wet weather, high physical and mental stress situations and an unbalanced diet drain the body's defences and weaken the immune system. This makes the body more susceptible to pathogens such as viruses and bacteria, as well as to oxidative stress. For example, according to Deutsche Familienversicherung (German Family Insurance), adults suffer from a cold 2 to 4 times a year, with children getting colds even more frequently.

In these periods of life in particular, your immune system and protective barriers need active support. The supply of vitamins, minerals and secondary plant substances are some factors which play a key role in the complex processes of immune defence. The sanotact® range includes high-quality products with proven nutrient profiles and innovative formulations designed specifically to strengthen the body's defences and natural protective barriers.

STOMACH & DIGESTION

STRONG INGREDIENTS FOR A GOOD GUT FEELING

The human digestive tract needs to achieve maximum performance every day because the food we eat has to be broken down. This gives the body the nutrients it needs for a healthy metabolism. In order for this complex interaction to run smoothly, a balanced diet, healthy intestinal microbiota (also called intestinal flora) and regulated digestion, are hugely important. Placing excessive stress on the gastrointestinal tract should also be avoided.

The sanotact® product portfolio includes highly specialised food supplements with vitamins, dietary fibres, enzymes and microbial cultures. Depending on the patient's individual circumstances, the specific nutrient profiles of sanotact® products support fat metabolism, the immune system, liver function, intestinal flora and digestion, thus promoting gastrointestinal health.

ENERGY, ELECTROLYTES & SPORTS

TACKLE EVERYDAY LIFE WITH STRENGTH AND ENERGY

Who hasn't experienced this situation... Your diary is nice and full. The daily juggle between work, household tasks, family, friends and hobbies takes a lot of energy. Rest and recovery phases are often neglected. We feel tired and exhausted. Lots of people also do not think about ensuring they have a balanced diet in this situation, which can exacerbate the stress symptoms.

Exhaustion, fatigue and reduced performance can be signs that something is missing from the body. Besides a lack of sleep, fluids or exercise, an insufficient supply of nutrients is a possible cause. However, the supply of essential vitamins, minerals and amino acids is essential for normal energy metabolism and nerve function. It also provides building blocks for important messenger substances in the human body and can help reduce tiredness and fatigue.

BEAUTY FROM WITHIN

VISIBLE HEALTH

An attractive appearance and a positive charisma are always a reflection of inner balance and contentment. And vice versa: Looking good also promotes well-being! Clean skin, shiny hair and healthy fingernails convey vitality and vigour at first glance. They are primarily the result of an intact metabolism because natural beauty from within requires that our body has a good supply of the necessary nutrients it needs to build healthy skin, hair and nails. A radiant appearance is therefore, at least in part, a question of the right diet!

A carefully-chosen diet rich in minerals and vitamins forms a good basis for healthy skin, strong nails and beautiful hair. In addition, it is important to provide the body with sufficient fluids. Furthermore, supplements can help achieve the skin condition you want, strengthen nails and promote healthy hair growth and shine.

sanotact® range for beauty from within provides different products with well known and proven ingredients such as hyaluron, collagen, biotin and others.

In addition, men already have special nutritional needs due to their physique. For example, it is important to supply the muscle mass with sufficient magnesium, selenium is indispensable for sperm formation and zinc is important for the testosterone level.

BREWER'S YEAST

THE NATURAL BEAUTIFIER

The best of beer – but completely alcohol-free. Brewer's yeast is a 100 % natural product from beer production. After brewing, the brewer's yeast is dried in a particularly gentle way at low temperature. The drying process renders the brewer's yeast cell inactive and it no longer exhibits any fermentation activity. In turn, the cell stores the nutrients that are already naturally present in the brewer's yeast. These include a particularly high content of B-vitamins (B1, B2, biotin, folic acid). And of course many other valuable ingredients.

Since 1979, brewer's yeast has been the focus of the sanotact® range for beauty from within. For generations, women have sworn by the use of brewer's yeast. And for an important reason. As a natural product, brewer's yeast has a very high vitamin B1 (thiamine) content and is a natural source of 5 other important B-vitamins such as biotin. Processed in a vitamin-friendly way, for example as tablets or flakes, it offers a variety for our health as well as for our enjoyment. Besides being used for beauty from within, these products are also used in the kitchen for cooking or seasoning.

WELL-BEING

SUPPORT FOR BALANCE, RECOVERY AND MENTAL STRENGTH

The "Well-being" product category in dietary supplements is designed for individuals facing high demands and constant pressure in their daily lives. Between work, family, and personal commitments, there is often little time left for adequate rest and recovery for both body and mind. Well-being products aim to provide targeted support to better handle everyday stresses with resilience. They can help improve sleep quality, enhance mental health, and support cognitive performance throughout the day. This approach not only supports balance in daily routines but also strengthens long-term well-being and quality of life—ensuring a relaxed start to the day and the energy needed to meet every challenge.
