

Venus Remedies Joins the United Nations Global Compact

Chandigarh | May 15, 2025

We are proud to announce that Venus Remedies Limited has officially joined the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC)—the world's largest corporate sustainability platform committed to aligning businesses with universal principles of Human Rights, Labor, Environment, and Anti-Corruption.

This strategic step reflects our longstanding commitment to ethical healthcare innovation, global responsibility, and sustainability. Venus now stands among a global community of purpose-driven institutions working collectively toward the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Our alignment with the UNGC further reinforces our existing foundation:

- Over a decade of WHO PQ-certified supplies to UNICEF, PAHO, and other global health agencies
- ISO 14064 certification for climate transparency
- Ongoing ESG mapping across global operations
- Active leadership in Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR) through our QIDP-status molecule VRP 034, approved under the U.S. FDA's GAIN Act

Quote from Ms. Aditi K. Chaudhary, President – International Business, Venus Remedies

"At Venus, we believe in science with conscience. Joining the UN Global Compact is a natural extension of our values—where access, ethics, and excellence intersect. This move not only amplifies our global credibility but also places us on the frontlines of change, where innovation must meet responsibility. We see this as a deep commitment to our global partners, to every healthcare system we serve, and to the planet we all share."

Through this partnership, Venus is reaffirming its role as a future-forward, values-driven pharmaceutical leader—contributing not only to human health, but to the shared health of the world.
